With the Destruction of the Very Restau-Paris, Nov. 7 .- Gil Blas today publishes a letter from the anarchist Meunier who is supposed to be in England, declaring that because Francois, who was arrested a short time ago in London on the charge of blowing up the restaurant of M. Both Meunier and Francois were suspected of $4.99 causing the explosion at Very's restaurant and $1.99 were arrested. The police, however, concluded that they were innocent and released them. Both men disappeared and shortly afterward the authorities became convinced that they had erty, as evidence came to light that both of them were implicated in the outrage. MAY ROW ON LAKE CALUMET. The Movement to Have the Next Amate After the Amateur Regatta.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7 .- Although the movement inaugurated by the Iroquois Boat Club of this city to bring the regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen to Chicago instead of Saratoga next summer is not meeting with the enthusiastic support of western rowing organizations, it is making good headway. Some profess to believe that the Iroquoi Club cannot successfully handle such a big affair as the 1893 meeting is sure to be, but the members are confident they can manage the meeting in good shape.

On the face of it the task looks to be impos sible, for it is known that there is not a body of water within a reasonable distance of Chicago which combines all the features which go to make a tegatta not only a success, but a possi-Lincoln Park course was discussed, but found to be altogether out of the question. There zemained but one course, and that was to be altogether out of the question. There remained but one course, and that was the body of water most dreaded in America by the oarsmen—Calumet lake, off Pullman. Shallow and full of weeds rising nearly to the surface, it has proved in past regattas the pitfall of many an ambitious sculler whose chances for a win were good until he got his oars into the holding mess immediately below the surface. Barring this fatal detriment Pullman might be called an ideal regatta town. Several meetings were arranged between the Pullman people and the Chicago interested in getting the national association to this city, with the result that the latter were assured control of Athletics Island, which contains the grand stands overlooking the course, if they could raise the money necessary to dredge the course deep enough to make fast rowing a possibility. Figures were obtained and it was found that a channel 500 feet wide and one and one-half miles long could be dredged at a maximum cost of $6,000. De Witt C. Creiger, jr., the leading spirit in the movement, a maximum cost of $6,000. De Witt C. Creiger, jr., the leading spirit in the movement, has obtained a promise of $5,000 from a millionaire of this city, said to be Geo. M. Pullmen himself, which practically puts the matter in shape to present to the meeting of the board of directors of the national association.

If the course can be put in the proper shape, and assurances are made by engineers that it can, next year will see the greatest gathering of amateur oarsmen ever held in this country. The Mississippi valley, the northwestern and the Chicago navy regatts would all precede the national championship, which would be given to Chicago to a certainty if the present plans are carried out, and there is said to be no good reason why they should not be.

OTTAWA, ONT., Nov. 7 .- Correspondence has international courtesy by U. S. subjects. In May last U. on the night before election four years ago the Hoffman House was crowded, as usual, The opinion prevails here that Owen ought to be liberated by the United States government, his case being on a par with that of the boy Gale, who was liberated from a Canadian reformatory by the Dominion government at the request of the American authorities a few weeks with politicians and sporting men, whose expectations had been raised to a high pitch by the report that Col. Swords was coming around with a "bar" of money to bet on Harrison and knock the prevailing odds endways. It was understood that the galiant colonel would have about $100,000 tucked away in his pockets, and that he would teach the democratic planes. about $100,000 tucked away in his pockets, and that he would teach the democratic plungers a lesson which they would never forget. History repeats itself, for Col. Swords did not come to time in 1888, and though he was confidently expected this year he did not appear either.

The odds of 10 to 9 on Cleveland's victory time in 1888, and though he was confidently expected this year he did not appear either.

The odds of 10 to 9 on Cleveland's victory in 1888 remained firm until the very last hour persons, kneeling at the graves of their dear departed in earnest prayer, with clasped hands before election day. There were, of course, numerous bets of even money registered, but in most cases the Harrison men insisted on the prevailing odds. So great was the confidence of the democrate that Cleveland would carry Indiana then that there was one bet of $1,500 to $200 on his success in that state.

The fact that Mr. Complete is also the charter in fuses democratic central committee infuses democrate with the belief that he has not neglected any opportunity presented to insure democratic success in this district, but not at the expense of the party in the other One of the largest bets recorded four years ago was that of John Mahoney with Frank J. Huntoon. Mahonev supported the Cleveland end, as he is doing this year. He wagered $20,000 against Huntoon's $10,000 on the general result. As stated above he lost very nearly

THE FIFTH MARYLAND DISTRICT

> The Only Question is as to Compton's of The Evening Star LAUREL, Mp., Nov. 7, 1892. Democrats of the fifth district claim and the republicans, except when talking for political effect, concede the election of Barnes Compton the democratic nominee for Congress, and the plurality he will receive is the only question of difference between them. Some of the most enthusiastic of Compton's friends claim his plurality this year will exceed that received by him in 1890, when he had 1,618, but it is probable that they are making their predictions without a critical tion of the situation as it now is.

tion of the situation as it now is.

The more conservative democrats do not place Mr. Compton's plurality at more than 1,000 and they will be perfectly satisfied if he is returned by that vote. Both Compton and Parran have made vigorous and active canvasses of the district, but it is admitted that the campaign of the democrats has been the more en-thusiastic and effective.

There are no disaffections in the democratic ranks this year. The factions in Anne Arundel county, where much disaffection has existed in the past, have been benied and all democrats are ture, but as it is they are not as hard they should be, and this will aid in increasing the majority of Compton. The fact that Mr. Compton is also the chair districts.

The democrats concede that Parran will carry Calvert, Charles and St. Mary's counties, and that the other counties and the first and thirteenth districts of Baltimore county and the seventeenth ward of Baltimore city will give Compton substantial majorities Burchard, the people's party candidate for Congress in this district, will receive but few votes in the district, and it is safe to say that the total vote cast for him will not be more than one-half that cast for the prohibition candidate, and it is not seriously asserted that the total vote of the prohibition and people's faction combined will exceed 500. In 1890 the registration in the fifth district was 36,100 and registration in the fifth district was 36,100 and the vote 27,776. In 1891 the registration was 35,038 and the vote for governor 27,548.

In 1890 Compton's plurality was 1,618, and in 1891 Brown's plurality for governor was 4,309. It is not prudent to compare the vote this year with that of 1891, when national politics did not enter into the campaign, but with 1890, when the party lines were closely drawn and the fight between Mudd and Compton was hot and hitter. It is well in making all estimates this bitter. It is well in making all estimates this year to take into consideration the fact that this is a presidential campaign and a full vote will be poiled. It is consideration of this fact that prompts me to predict that Compton's plurality will not exceed 1,200 and may not be over 800, but it will hardly be less.

Comparison of the vote cannot be made with the vote of 1888 for the reason that the new registration law went into effect in the counties in this district in 1890 and thousands of residents of the District of Columbia and other states who voted here and resided elsewher were stricken off the poll books. This resulted in a great advantage to the democrat
